

ABOUT TROX UK

TROX UK is a leading designer and manufacturer of HVAC and building services components and integrated systems for air conditioning, ventilation and fire safety. As part of the global TROX GROUP which is headquartered in Neukirchen-Vluyn, Germany, TROX UK was created as the first international subsidiary in 1962 (today one of 34 subsidiaries worldwide), and having now reached over 60 years of trading operations in the UK market and a centre of excellence, our outstanding design expertise and quality manufacturing standards keeps us at the forefront of product innovation.

The desire to lead the industry rather than follow has seen TROX continuously develop and launch the most efficient and flexible range of air distribution and comfort conditioning systems in today's market. Working closely with architects, developers and consultants we offer a valuable extension to the project team.

From our 155,000 sq. ft. manufacturing facility and offices in Thetford, Norfolk, and an office in the City of London, TROX UK has provided its products, support and expertise on many of the most prestigious landmark commercial development construction and infrastructure projects throughout the UK, delivering for some of the most recognised global brands.
