TROX FOR FANCOIL UNITS

HOW DO YOU SELECT A FANCOIL SUPPLIER FOR YOUR PROJECT?

At TROX we recommend that you don't select a fancoil in isolation, you should consider an holistic air management solution.

Of course we'd say that, you say, but here is the main reason why we think you should consider a systems engineering type approach: guaranteed and demonstrable performance.

Specifically, by selecting fancoil units and diffusers from TROX we will guarantee noise levels, thermal performance and air distribution. To support any project development TROX's Thetford site has a dedicated fancoil unit test chamber and three further air distribution labs suitable for design verification testing. We particularly welcome project team visits and meetings on site at Thetford to allow for full stakeholder/supply chain solution demonstration and approval.

The new Type PWX fancoil unit (FCU) complements the range of TROX products; from air handling units to filters, VAV systems, grilles and diffusers.
